

23-26 November 2020

Supporting growth in a changed landscape

23 November

14:00 Government address

Creating a better partnership with the industry and putting public sector investment at the heart of the recovery

How will government support the industry in these challenging times and where will be the focus for public sector investment: from housing to infrastructure? How might regulation and guidance need to change to improve productivity moving forward?

Nadhim Zahawi, construction minister (TBC)

14:15 Q&A

14:35 Keynote address

The next normal in construction

- Exploring recent research focused on reshaping the construction industry and how Covid-19 has accelerated this process
- Discussing some of the economic and structural developments for the industry in the short-term

David Rockhill, associate partner, McKinsey & Company

14:55 Q&A

15:15 A catalyst for change – how can technology support the new normal for construction?

From new ways to working to more digitally enabled sites, how will 2020 shift the industry's use of technology and permanently change practices to embraced more digital enabled solutions.

Tom Thackray, director of infrastructure, CBI

15:35 Q&A

16:00 End of Day 1

24 November

14:00 Panel: Creating better regeneration projects for towns and cities and delivering the homes required

- Putting placemaking at the heart of future projects and bringing the community into planning
- Exploring the future of public-private partnership, and attracting investment and building new homes
- Reviewing what our city centres will look like by 2030 and how we need a more adaptable built environment

Symon Bacon, development director, Canada Water, British Land

Lahari Ramuni, researcher, Centre for Cities

14:50 Projects in focus: Gain insight into upcoming projects and what clients are seeking in supply chain partners

Ebury Bridge Estate, London – exploring the mixed-use developments ahead for this £350m scheme

Barbara Brownlee, executive director of growth, planning and housing, Westminster City Council

Sheffield – emphasising the importance of public-private partnership to drive the recovery forward

Nalin Seneviratne, director – city centre development, Sheffield City Council

15:20 Question and answer session

16:00 Leaders Panel

How has 2020 shaped your businesses and your outlook for the next three years

- What has been the structural and operational impact of Covid-19 this year and into 2021 and beyond?
- How has the pipeline of projects changed?
- To what extent will technology now create a long-term shift in how the industry operates?
- What are the wider challenges impacting the industry and how are you addressing them?
- How was the last two years impacting subcontractors and their place in the market?

Patricia Moore, managing director, Turner and Townsend

David Allen, chief executive, Wates

25 November

14:00 Client panel

Collaborating to ensure a supported supply chain, safe sites and efficient procurement

- How has Covid-19 impacted your investment plans and current projects?
- To what extent will cost dominate procurement in the future or are factors such as quality, value or collaboration still important?
- How are you addressing risk in your supply chain and ensuring clarity for your project partners and subcontractors?
- What do you want to see from government, to better support your investment plans and ensure that projects can be more productive?

Paul Mustow, divisional director, free school capital, Department of Education

Gavin Taylor, regional general manager, Far East Consortium

Delegates can select one of the two interactive session to join:

| | | |
|-------|--|--|
| 14:50 | Debate: How can we accelerate the role out of modern methods of construction, post Covid-19? <ul style="list-style-type: none">• How Covid-19 already been a catalyst for change?• To what extent can offsite meet the needs of the new normal?• What impact can automation or smart equipment have for site operations?• How are teams using digital construction to meet changing demands on projects and programmes? An interactive discussion, where you can hear advice from industry leaders and get involved in the fishbowl debate, so that you are at the heart of the session. Ann Bentley, global board director, Rider Levett Bucknall Sarah Williamson, technical director, Laing O'Rourke | Debate: How should future project be procured, in order to promote quality and value? <ul style="list-style-type: none">• To what extent will price remain the key driver for projects, as the economy recovers?• What can industry do to better analyse the long-term impact of value and quality to a project?• How do current procurement practices impede innovation and putting quality at the heart planning?• What does quality mean to a client and contractor and can any differences be closed? An interactive discussion, where you can hear advise from industry leaders and get involved in the fishbowl debate, so that you are at the heart of the session. Roger Bailey, CTO, Tideway |
|-------|--|--|

16:00 End of Day 3

26 November

14:00 Panel: Beyond mega projects – exploring investment across sectors and changing procurement practices.

Surveying the pipeline in the short term and discussing how procurement and delivery has and will continue to change as a result of economic and Covid-19 related factors.

David Hughes, strategy and programme director, TfN

Ian Cartwright, director, capital delivery, National Grid

14:50 Projects in focus: Gain insight into upcoming projects and what clients are seeking in supply chain partners

Sizewell C – exploring the current design and preparatory work for this future new nuclear project

Julia Pyke, SZC director of financing, EDF

Lower Thames Crossing – building a strong team and supply chain alliance to improve project delivery

15:20 Question and answer session

16:00 End of CN Summit 2020

emap 2020. The programme may change due to unforeseen circumstances. emap reserves the right to alter the venue and/or speakers.